Empty Chair

I never got to say goodbye
And every day I question why
You were the one that kept me sane
And helped me take away my pain

You meant so much
To all who knew
The heart you had
Just grew and grew

It was not time for you to go
You slipped away like melting snow
And now your chair is empty
We'll all miss you sincerely

You always were my trusted guide
With someone that I could confide
A torch with which to light my way
I valued all you had to say

You meant so much
To all who knew
The heart you had
Just grew and grew
