

PROJECT359

Hollow Existence

Your life is oh so cold and empty
And you feel alone in your sheltered home
You pray for guidance still longing and yearning
For the end to come your emotions numb
Your mind is frozen no logic or reason
As they spew their words preaching the absurd
Crowds are weeping screaming and reeling as they Use your fears, hypnotic floods of tears

They try to mask
Their point of view
But they're hollow
I can see right through

Mass hypnosis a psychosis have you noticed?
How the World has changed, becoming more deranged
Belief grows deeper and making you weaker, as they Blind your eyes with their selfish lies
The age of reason is dawning and winning
Back your minds, catching up with time
The clock is ticking and counting down the days
As they lose control, digging deeper holes

I search and find
That it's all in vein
All lies through time
Making our minds tame

The time is coming when your minds and hearts
Will never be afraid to challenge this charade
The end in sight we're slowly unplugging
As they scream in rage, now we've come of age

They try to mask
Their point of view
But they're hollow
I can see right through

I search and find
That it's all in vein
All lies through time
Making our minds tame

© Copyright 2006 PROJECT359

All lyrics written and owned by David Saul
CD artwork designed and created by David Saul